FIRE DEVASTATES TOWN OF STANLEY

Sixteen Buildings Destroyed and Dynamite Explosion Adds to Disaster.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LURAY, VA., May 5.—The town of Stanley, in this county, ten miles south of Luray, was more than half swept away by fire this morning about half-past 2 o'clock. Telephone wires are down, and particulars are hard to obtain. The fire started in Roudabush's mill and spread east and west, destroying many buildings, some of them very fine residences.

Roudabush's Mill, Thomas Keyser's residence, Grim's home, the Stanley post-office and all records, D. M. Morrissey's store, Cooke's store, Spryock's store, Hamrick's store and Miss Lena Verner's residence were swept away.

The fire was accompanied by a terrific explosion of dynamite, which was felt for thirty miles. Many persons in Luray thought the explosion an earthquake. At this place pictures were shaken from the walls.

Sixteen houses in all are reported destroyed. The loss will amount to between $30,000 and $40,000, with insurance of about $20,000. Many buildings in the path of the fire are badly damaged. Some of the storehouses destroyed were the finest in the Valley of Virginia.

IT WAS A MISTAKE. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., May 5.—In a statement to-day, H. S. Arrington, the local member of the State Pharmacy Board, in reference to the complaint of A. D. Cross, who said that he had been forced to sign the practical examination of the Board, in order to qualify as a registered pharmacist, when he held a certificate showing that he had passed a previous examination, said that the trouble was caused by the fact that the certificate had been issued to Mr. Cross through mistake, he failing to make the required percentage of 75 by three.

Mr. Cross explained that he had not prepared himself for the test, not expecting to be required to stand it, and when he was suddenly faced with it, retired and did not attempt to pass the Board as a registered pharmacist. He claims that, like Mr. Colinda, he was put to the test and expense of going to the State Board meeting and then forced to retire through sudden and unfair rulings of the Board.

"I have the certificate as a registered assistant, and propose to stick to it, mistake or no mistake," Mr. Cross says.

BREWERS LOSE IN "NEAR BEER" CASE

Court Rules That Its Sale Is Punishable by Fine and Imprisonment.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SUFFOLK, VA., May 5.—Another blow was passed by the Anti-Saloon League forces to-day, when Circuit Judge James L. McLemore ruled that it was an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment to "near-beer." The case of Joe Gay, fined by Justice Deberry $50 for dispensing a beverage containing 2 1/4 per cent. or less of alcohol, came up on appeal. The case was contentious, the judge facts being admitted by both sides. It was also agreed that such refreshments are not intoxicating.

Judge R. H. Rawles and James H. Corbitt, representing the brewers, demurred to the warrant and were overruled. The prosecution was conducted by State's Attorney Burges and Lee Britt, counsel for the Citizens' League. Judge McLemore was asked to suspend judgment to give an opportunity to appeal to the State Supreme Court.

The judge's decision was based on the local option law of 1914. The defense contended that the law repealed the indictments imposed for the sale of non-intoxicants, even though they contained some alcohol. Since the town went "dry," March 14, nearly all the saloons have been selling "near-beer" undisturbed until to-day.

Brooklyn Car Crew Didn't Want to Delay Theatre Crowd.

NEW YORK, May 5.—When Patrolmen Coon and Selberg, of the West Forty-seventh Street Station, reached Broadway and Fifth Street about 11 o'clock last night in response to information that the driver of a hansom cab had been shot, they found a man lying on a sidewalk in a pool of blood. The man was a colored man, about 35 years of age, with a mustache and a flat cap. He was lying on his back, with his arms outstretched. "Where is the motorman of the car that ran into this cab asked Coon. They are the names and numbers of the conductor and motorman of the car," said a bystander. "They didn't want to delay the theatre crowd, so they left the information with me."

"What do you think of that?" exclaimed Selberg. Witnesses to the collision said that a Broadway car was going at a fair rate of speed when a cab driven by John Maloney, of 109 West Fifth Street, shot across the street and ran into the car. Maloney was thrown from his seat. An ambulance physician from Flower Hospital said that he had received the driver of the cab from the skull and could not live. There were no passengers in the cab at the time.

The report shows that the motorman of the car was R. McGowan and the conductor was J. Pang. The number of the car was 108.
